CCCU Tops Forbes' List as Best Credit Union in Nevada

[LAS VEGAS, Nev.] – July 11, 2019 – Forbes second annual Best-In-State awards ranked Clark County Credit Union (CCCU) as the best credit union in Nevada. Forbes partnered with market research firm Statista to independently survey 25,000 people on their banking relationships. They voted on their overall recommendations and satisfaction levels with more than five thousand credit unions across the country.

“We are honored to be named the top credit union in Nevada and thankful to our loyal members who endorse their credit union as the best,” said Matt Kershaw, Chief Executive Officer of CCCU. “Every decision we make is to better our organization and to help our Member-Owners, they are not customers – they are the sole reason we are in business.”

People surveyed for Forbes weighed in on their current and former banking relationships, rated branch and online services, trust level, and financial advice, amongst other categories.

“Only three credit unions were ranked in all of Nevada for the Forbes Best in State list, and we are proud to represent our great state in this way,” Kershaw said.

According to Forbes, up to 10 credit unions in larger states were awarded best-in-state designation, based on the number of responses in each state. Overall, only 182 credit unions qualified, or 3.1% of the total number of U.S. financial institutions.

CCCU is a strong community partner and continues to add online and in branch services to create a friendly and professional environment with a local feel. For more information or to open an account visit <https://www.ccculv.org/Who-Can-Join.aspx>.
